

Tag Red China As Aggressor

UN Assembly in Vote of 44 to 7 After Britain Voiced Warning

By Max Harrelson

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 1.—(P)—The United Nations Assembly voted overwhelmingly today to tag Communist China as an aggressor in Korea, but a warning by Britain to go slow on sanctions raised a big question as to the next step.

The assembly vote was 44 to 7—the same as the ballot in the political committee Tuesday night. The five Soviet bloc countries were joined by India and Burma in casting the opposing votes. Eight countries abstained and one—Saudi Arabia—was recorded as not participating.

Today's action brought to an end the present phase of the diplomatic battle which was touched off by a report from Gen. Douglas MacArthur 12 weeks ago that the Chinese Reds had intervened in the Korean conflict.

Calls For Withdrawal

The assembly:

1. Decided that Communist China engaged in aggression in Korea.

2. Requested a committee on collective security to study what to do about meeting this aggression, but to hold up its work if a good offices committee reports progress on a peaceful settlement.

3. Approved creation of the good offices committee to consist of Assembly President Nasrallah Entezam of Iran and two others whom he will name.

4. Called on the Peiping regime to withdraw its nationals and forces from Korea and to stop fighting U. N. forces.

5. Affirmed the determination of the U. N. to continue its action in Korea to meet the aggression.

6. Called upon all states and authorities not to help the aggressors.

Urges For Settlement

Just before the vote, Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb urged the assembly to concentrate on seeking a peaceful settlement in Korea and to go slow on sanctions against the Chinese Reds.

The assembly began its session by voting to apply the "gas" rule in an effort to speed adoption of the American resolution.

Entezam told reporters later he intended to ask Sir Benegal N. Rau, India, and Lester B. Pearson, Canadian foreign minister, to serve with him on the good offices committee. He said he had not yet received their replies.

Rau, leader of the rejected Asian-Arab plan for a seven-power conference on Far Eastern problems, declared that the American resolution does not hold out any prospects for a peaceful settlement.

He said he opposed the U. S. plan for these main reasons:

1. In the opinion of the Indian government, it will prolong the Korean war indefinitely, extend the conflict, and may lead to a global war.

2. The resolution is not fair in its condemnation.

3. To condemn Communist China as an aggressor implies previous aggression.

Dinner-Dance By Lions Club

The zone meeting of region two, Lions Clubs, which was scheduled for Wednesday night at the Bothwell Hotel was postponed due to the snow storm, but the Sedalia Lions Club held a dinner-dance meeting instead.

District Governor D. Kelly Scruton, a member of the local club, gave a short talk.

The Missouri Pacific Eagles Minstrel was presented by the Missouri Pacific Women's Club of Sedalia. The hour entertainment was under the direction of Mrs. Nellie Monegan. Members of the minstrel "pulled" several jokes on a number of the Lions Club members, and entertained with dancing and singing numbers during the evening.

Following the entertainment a dance was enjoyed with music by Harry Trotman orchestra.

Kenneth Buchholtz, president of the club, presided.

Zone Chairman Ed J. Schleiger, Slater, Mo., in cancelling reservations of members of the Slater Club notified President Buchholtz road conditions made it impossible to come to Sedalia for the meeting. Chairman Schleiger, however, announced he would call another zone meeting within the next few weeks.

Shortage on Liquor Stamps

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 1.—(P)—A shortage of state liquor stamps faces the Missouri Department of Revenue, G. H. Bates, director reported today.

The unexpected shortage is attributed to unusually heavy sales of the stamps during the last half of 1950. Bates said. Now there is only $289 of the $70,000 1949 appropriation for stamps left. An emergency appropriation of $30,000 to maintain the fund until July 1 has been requested, along with a $30,000 increase in the fund for the coming biennium.

Bates believes most of the increase in stamp sales is due to stockpiling of liquor in warehouses because of fear of shortages and increased federal taxes.

Liquor stamp sales during 1950 were approximately 19 per cent higher than in 1949 with the largest increases recorded last summer. In August sales were 137 per cent ahead of the same month a year earlier. In June they were up 115 per cent and in July up 40 per cent.

Shipments Are Stalled Due to Strike

Walkouts Get More Critical In Various Areas

By the Associated Press

Some engineers and firemen joined switchmen today in rapidly spreading walkouts that crippled the nation's rail systems and stalled defense shipments.

The Santa Fe railroad said many engineers and firemen in its Chicago yards reported too sick to work this morning. This is the excuse the switchmen have been giving for not working. Road service crews, operating the freight and passenger trains on runs, were working.

The "sick call" walkouts, moving into the third day, grew steadily more critical. They spanned the nation, hitting directly against 34 railroads in more than a score of cities.

They crippled many industries. The Santa Fe said only a single switch-fireman reported for work today in the Chicago yards where normally 19 five-man crews are employed at a time.

Each crew consists of an engineer, who is a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; a fireman, who belongs to the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen and three switchmen, members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Others to Idleness

Until today only the switchmen were reported on strike. Their walkouts forced other yard workers into idleness. Locomotives could not move with no one to throw yard switches.

The Santa Fe is using supervisory workers in an effort to keep freight moving through the Chicago yards. So far, a spokesman for the road said, they have been fairly successful.

An army spokesman at Chicago said the only other railroad to report engineers or firemen joining the walkout was the Wabash. Effects of the strike mounted hourly. Numerous plants began laying off workers and shutting down production facilities because of the shipping tangle.

Industrial areas of the east and midwest were particularly hard hit. In New York, both the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads predicted serious disruption of their huge rail networks.

President Truman was reported considering a direct appeal to the

Must Give Aid 'Ike' Declares

Finds Spirit of Desire to Resist Aggression in Western Europe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told Congress members today there is "no acceptable alternative" to American help in rearming Europe.

The five-star general, chosen to head the allied defense forces against Russian aggression, publicly joined the great debate over committing U. S. troops to those forces with an address to the Senate and House.

He argued: "We must give Europe assistance not only because there is no acceptable alternative, but because if we were left standing alone, isolated in a world of Communism, our system would wither away."

Solemnly, Eisenhower had told the lawmakers earlier that their decisions on defense cooperation with western Europe would determine the course of civilization and whether free governments will continue to exist.

Just back from a tour of Europe, Eisenhower said there is no question of western Europe's desire to resist aggression.

"There is a spirit to resist," he said. "There is a determination to do their part—to take the risk."

Need of Equipment

He said, too, that Europe's greatest need now is not American soldiers but equipment which he said must be delivered in quantity and quickly.

As to transfer of American troops to Europe, Eisenhower said that should be done in a ratio to what the Europeans themselves provide.

Eisenhower sketched briefly conditions in individual European countries as he said he found them. He said there is "no question" that France has "determined" to face up to the threat of Communism from within and without.

And he said he found the same spirit in Belgium, Holland and Denmark.

"There is no question about Norway's determination to resist to the point of destruction," he went on.

Eisenhower said he did not want to speak now about the military potential of Germany.

He said the diplomats must come up with a political platform for Germany which gives that nation equality before any of its military units could be used in an international defense force.

He said while it would be "false and idle to say there does not exist a spirit of pessimism and defeatism" in some quarters in Europe, he feels there has been a "rejuvenation" in Europe's morale.

As to the United States need of western Europe, Eisenhower said western Europe's skilled labor constitutes "the greatest pool" in the world and it has an "industrial fabric" second only to the United States, plus more than 200,000,000 persons.

He said if that potential were transferred to the other side, the military balance of power "would be shifted so drastically our safety would be gravely imperiled, grave-

To Give X-ray Tests Feb. 8, 9, 10

The Pettis County Tuberculosis Association is bringing to Sedalia February 8th, 9th and 10th the x-ray machine. On Thursday, February 8th, the x-ray machine will be at Smith-Cotton high school where all students of the county in the eighth, tenth and twelfth grades will be x-rayed free. This is paid for from the Christmas seals sold each year. Tuberculosis can be cured but it eases when discovered early and this is one way that it may be detected in its early stages, young people who are the most susceptible.

The machines will be at the court house on the 9th and 10th between the hours 9:00 and 2:00 in the morning, 1:00 and 5:00 in the afternoon and 7:00 and 9:00 at night for the public and there will be a charge made. Heart trouble and cancer may show on the x-rays as well as tuberculosis.

The Pettis County Tuberculosis Association has 13 patients at the present time at Mt. Vernon.

Ceiling Set On Products Of The Farm

Several of Them Reach Parity or Above Recently

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(P)—Agriculture department Wednesday announced minimum levels at which ceilings may legally be placed on farm products for the month of February.

They are based largely on latest department calculations of farm parity prices. Parity prices are standards for measuring farm product prices, declared by law to be fair both to the farmer and to those who buy his products.

Under economic stabilization legislation, ceilings may not be placed on farm products at below the higher of (1) parity prices, which are calculated monthly, or (2) the highest prices farmers received during the period of May 24 to June 24, the month before the Korean war began.

The report showed the following products to be selling at or above the legal ceiling level: beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, sheep, cotton, cottonseed, rice, wool, American-Egyptian cotton, crude pine gum and alsike clover. The ceiling price levels announced are given in terms

Income Tax Claim of $59,620 On Estate

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 1.—(P)—Harold Lockhart, collector of Internal Revenue, yesterday filed a federal income tax claim of $59,620 against the estate of Dr. Wayne M. Toothaker.

Toothaker, a St. Joseph physician, took his own life last year. Lockhart said the tax was due on income not paid on or reported from 1945 through 1949.

Visits Places Where Jesus Trod Two Thousand Years Ago

By Rev. David M. Bryan

(Special to Democrat-Capital)

JERUSALEM — When I left Egypt last week, I flew west from Cairo over the Nile river, the Negeb, the Red sea and across the Sinai peninsula to Acaba. We then turned north and flew along beside the Dead sea for its entire length. At Amman we turned east and flew across the Steppes of Moab, the Jordan river and Jerico to Jerusalem. If you look at the map you will see that we followed almost exactly the route over which Moses led the children of Israel out of Egyptian bondage into the Promised Land. The Bible tells us it took the Hebrews some forty (40) years to reach their destination. It took me exactly two and a half hours to cover the same ground. The most significant difference is this: When the Israelites finally reached Canaan they were a much better people for the experiences of the journey. God had dealings with them on the way and they had become a new

Another Huge Atomic Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 1.—(P)—The third atomic blast in a week lit up the pre-dawn sky northwest of here today. One witness described it as "like a huge flash gun" which photographers use.

An atomic energy spokesman confirmed that it was the third atomic test at the sprawling 5,000 square mile test range near here.

This makes it No. 12 in the list of atomic explosions set off since the first at Alamogordo, N. M., July 16, 1945.

The AEC spokesman would give no details of what sort of test took place. There has been much speculation that the government is testing a variety of atomic weapons besides the bombs which hit Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945 and brought the Japanese war to an end.

A reporter said "there was a quick, blinding flash which outlined the hills north of town. The flash tapered off to a rosy hue and then disappeared. Six minutes later there was rumbling noise which shook houses and rattled dishes."

The flash occurred at 5:48 a.m., Pacific Standard Time.

Some 300 miles west at Los Angeles an observer reported seeing a flash in the sky to the east at about the same time.

Proposed Tax Boosts Reach Into Luxuries

President Wants Defense on Basis Of Pay-as-We-Go

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(P)—The White House said today President Truman will send his new tax message to Congress tomorrow.

The message, expected to call for some $10,000,000,000 in additional taxes, is expected to be available between 9 a. m. and 10 a. m. CST tomorrow.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said the message probably will not be "long or involved."

By Francis M. Lemay

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(P)—Capitol Hill heard today that President Truman will ask tomorrow for big tax boosts on such luxuries as whiskey, wine, beer and cigarettes to help pay huge defense costs.

The President outlined his proposals—the biggest tax boosting program in history—at an extraordinary private meeting with House Democratic and Republican tax writers yesterday. He will send a special tax message to Congress tomorrow.

He said he wants $16,500,000,000 in new revenue, to put the defense program on a pay-as-you-go basis, but he asked that it be split into two packages, one a quick $10,000,000,000 increase in individual, corporation and excise taxes, sometimes called nuisance or selective sales taxes.

Excise Boosts on Whiskey

There were indications he will ask, along with some other excise boosts, an increase in the whiskey tax from $9 a gallon to $12. At $12 the tax would be about 12 to 15 cents a drink. Whiskey is one of the biggest revenue producers in the excise

Rev. Lindley to be B. P. W. C. Speaker

The Rev. Glen Lindley, pastor of the Federated Congregational Presbyterian church will be the speaker at the monthly Business and Professional Women's club meeting tonight at the Hotel Bothwell.

A native of Indiana, Rev. Lindley was a teacher, served as Arkansas treasurer, superintendent of the Congregational churches in Arkansas for seven years and is now located in Sedalia, having come here in September 1949.

Rev. Lindley will give in his talk a recital of the James Whitcomb Riley and his poems.

Mrs. Atwell Bohling is program chairman.

Allies In Three Miles Gain Through Bitter Hand-To-Hand Fight

Intense Cold Hesitant to Ease Icy Grip

Utilities And Schools Hard Hit In Parts of State

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 1.—(P)—Bitter sub-zero temperatures hit Missouri today in the wake of a storm which left from two to five inches of snow.

Lowest reported reading was 22 degrees below zero at Princeton, near the Iowa line. Four to five inches of snow lay over south-east Missouri, leaving highways in a dangerous condition.

Along with the cold and snow came disruption of utility and other public services. Some bus schedules were cancelled and schools were closed in southeast Missouri. Springfield had a gas shortage and Kansas City residents were called upon to reduce their electric power demands.

The outlook for Friday, as far as the cold is concerned, is not much brighter. The weather bureau forecast readings of from 10 to 15 below in the west and north and around five below in the southeast. However, temperatures Friday afternoon are expected to go to 15 to 20 in the northwest and to 10 to 15 in the southeast.

Besides Princeton, other sub-zero readings included: Maryville 16, Macon 12, Kirksville 11, St. Joseph 10, Moberly nine, Hannibal eight, Columbia seven, Jefferson City five, Kansas City, Joplin and Springfield four and St. Louis, and Rolla three. West Plains had two above and Poplar Bluff six above.

Numerous schools in southeast Missouri, mostly in the rural areas, were closed because of slippery and drifted roads. Here trains were running hours late.

Gas Short at Springfield

A severe gas shortage developed at Springfield. All industries were cut off. Taverns were requested to close. One parochial school was closed. Roads in that area were passable, although packed with snow from a two and a half inch fall.

In Kansas City, a power shortage developed when slush ice formed at intakes to a generating plant of the Kansas City Power and Light company. Householders were asked to cut use of appliances by 75 per cent and industries

'Spree' is Declared To Have Brought on Arrest at St. Louis

A "spree" was attributed the cause of a man being arrested in connection with the burglary of several stores, the Post Office and the Monticau county court house, all of California, Mo., He was picked up at St. Louis, January 19 by police there after he had returned from Illinois.

The man identified himself as Harold Emil Hendrickson, and gave a number of aliases. He also was quoted as admitting being one of several escapees from the Minnesota state prison. At the time he was picked up, the man had a large sum of money on his person which led to questioning and finally an admission of participating in the California, Mo., visit, officers state.

State Trooper H. E. Priess, Sheriff Walter Haldiman, of Monticau county, both from California, and Tom Shutt, post office inspector from Jefferson City, went to St. Louis and questioned the man.

On information of Hendrickson given the officials, they returned to California for a more extensive search of the stolen automobile abandoned by the thieves on that January 9 night. They found well hidden, $5,570 in unissued government bonds. They also found two more New York license plates.

Hendrickson implicated two other men who he said were also escaped convicts from the Minnesota prison. All carried selective service registration cards and they have several blank discharge papers from the army.

The car which the thieves abandoned in California has been traced to an automobile dealer in Indiana. It was practically a new car when stolen.

During the questioning of the man it was learned by officers the

Talk on History Of Kiwanis

Old Kiwanians were reminded and new Kiwanians learned of the organizational history and objectives of Kiwanis International at the meeting held Thursday noon in Bothwell hotel.

Bert Hathaway, past president, and chairman of the Education and Fellowship committee, was the speaker. In his talk he also outlined the duties and responsibilities of individual club members to support the broad program of international in 1951 and coming years.

President T. H. Yount reported on Kiwanis International goals including a five-year program to have 4,000 clubs with a total membership of 250,000.

Attorney James Durley spoke on behalf of the polio campaign and appealed to club members for contributions.

The collection after the meeting totaled $36.75.

Herbert Sieffert reported Clarence Evans on the sick list in the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis.

S. P. Miller, Windsor, was a guest of his nephew, Kenzie Miller.

Gets Coldest Here For Past Several Years

Some Industries Are Operating on Standby Fuels

The temperature dropped to 11 degrees below zero Wednesday night, which is the coldest it has been in the last several years and although there might have been a difference in opinion of whether one liked it or no, everybody agreed on one thing—that it was really cold.

This is the first time it has been below zero on February 1, since 1938, and in that time it has been below zero in the entire month of February only twice. It was 4 below on February 23, 1939 and it was six below zero on February 12, 1944.

This is the second time the mercury has dropped below the zero mark this year, one day recently it was down to four below.

The sun came out today and while it did add to the brightness of the world, it didn't send the temperature up very high, for at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon it had climbed to only 2 degrees above zero.

The weather predictions are for more of the same thing—cold, cold and colder.

Roads Here Cleared

The State Highway Patrol in the Sedalia area said the roads are cleared with slick spots having been cindered by the State Highway Department. The patrol early today reported all roads in Missouri passable, most cleared with some packed with snow in the Springfield area.

William B. Rich, manager of the Missouri Public Service Co., in Sedalia, today, stated there was no evidence of a gas shortage for this area as to residential use.

Mr. Rich said all industries such as the Pittsburgh-Corning Corp., glass plant at Sixteenth street and the Missouri Pacific State Fair spur track; the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad shops; the Public

French-American Force Trapped in One Sector of The War Front

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, Feb. 1.—(P)—

Allied forces in bitter hand-to-hand fighting crunched ahead as much as three miles today in Western Korea, but a French-American combat team was trapped by superior Chinese forces in another sector of the warfront.

There were increasing signs that the eight-day-old United Nations limited offensive had slammed into the main Red defense line south of the Han river. The Han river flows along the southeastern outskirts of Seoul.

A Tenth Corps spokesman said the encircled regiment had been fighting off two enemy regiments for hours, in close combat. He would not predict its chances of breaking out of the trap.

Bayonet-wielding Turkish troops made Thursday's biggest advance, through rugged and muddy hill country against an enemy "firmly dug in," a briefing officer said.

Forward elements of this force drove to a point about 4,000 yards south of Anyang, on the road to Seoul. Anyang is about nine miles northwest of Suwon and 11 miles south of the former South Korean capital. A few miles east of Suwon.

In Nine Miles of Seoul

The battlefront now extends roughly along an east-west line five miles north of Suwon. At one point it is within nine miles of Seoul.

Near the junction of the western and central fronts French and American elements were reported earlier Thursday to have rammed into blazing Red counterattacks near Chipyeong, 12 miles north of Yoji.

It was not clear whether this action was the same as the unlocated encirclement fight by a French-American regiment reported by the 10th corps spokesman Thursday night. In the counterattacks around Chipyeong the enemy had been described as 3,000 shouting North Koreans, who poured out of hideouts to strike the allied forces on three sides.

The spokesman said it was two regiments of Chinese Reds who had encircled the French-American

Bing's 20 Years on Top: 2

Der Bingle Gave up Law to Sing; Almost Laid an Egg

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's the second of three dispatches by NEA's Hollywood reporter that tell the fabulous success story of Bing Crosby, the erstwhile playboy who fell uphill to the big time and has stayed on the top in show business, radio and on records for 20 years.

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—It was probably the most dilapidated looking Ford roadster ever seen before or since on Hollywood Boulevard. It had no fenders or headlights and the engine coughed like a high school heroine in "Camille."

Behind the wheel was 23-year-old Harry Lillis Crosby, otherwise known as Bing, who had just quit Gonzaga University law school because, he had told his mother, "I'd rather sing than eat."

Sitting beside Bing was Alton Rinker, 24, erstwhile band leader, "hot" piano player and "hot" singer.

Three weeks before they had purchased the car for $40 and left home in Spokane, Wash., with a lunch packed by Mrs. Crosby, to win fame and fortune. They sang for their meals and

ON THE WAY: Bing looked like this when he sang for Whiteman, who doubted if he'd get anywhere "with those ears."

PERFORMER: The "biggest hit radio could remember" shows how he got that way—and stayed there—during a broadcast in 1945 with Claude Colbert and crooner named Frank Sinatra.

gasoline along the way and Bing had sold a drum with a Hawaiian sunset painted on it to pay a garage repair bill.

Destiny had great things in store for the kid behind the wheel. He was the fourth of seven children—five boys and two girls—born to Harry Lowe and Kate Crosby in Tacoma, Wash. When Bing was five the family moved to Spokane.

Because of the numerous children and Pop's small salary as a bookkeeper, there wasn't much money. Bing got his first job, at 12, chopping wood at $2 a week. But there was music at the Crosby home. There was an old Edison phonograph in the living room, Pop Crosby played the guitar, Mother Crosby played the piano and all the kids sang.

In the fifth grade, Crosby made his acting debut—he was a jumping jack on a pogo stick. In high school, he was Mark Antony in "Julius Caesar." The curtain fell and Mark, supposedly dead, rolled out of its way. He gave much better performances on the baseball, football and swimming teams.

At Gonzaga University, where Bing was studying to be a lawyer, he met Rinker, who led a dance band. Soon Bing was beating a drum and singing a hot chorus or two at school dances and in local vaudeville. The year was 1925.

Faded to Hollywood Boulevard in 1926 and that Ford chugging down the street.

Rinker's sister, singer Mildred Bailey, was living in Hollywood. She got Bing and Al their first singing job. Bing remembers: "We laid two big goosey eggs."

There were other jobs. A year passed by. Not bad. Not good.

SCHOOLBOY: In high school, Bing did better in baseball than in "Julius Caesar."

Then one night in 1927 Paul Whiteman caught their vaudeville act and hired them as vocalists. Things looked bright despite Whiteman's crack to Bing: "With those ears and that fanny I doubt whether you'll get anywhere."

Whiteman took Crosby and Rinker with him to New York where, for laughs, he introduced them as "a couple of boys I picked up in a Walla Walla ice cream parlor." They were a hit in a Chicago stopover but flopped in New York. Whiteman was ready to fire them when a youngster from Denver named Harry Barris suggested he team up with them to form a trio.

It was the birth of Paul Whiteman's Rhythm Boys. Their salaries: $125 a week each. For two years musically they were hits. When Whiteman returned to California in 1929 for the movie, "The King of Jazz," the Rhythm Boys did one three-minute song number in the picture, played one theater date with Whiteman in Seattle and were fired. They popped up back in Hollywood at a night club with Gue Arheim's orchestra, and moved with him to the Coconut Grove, at $175 a week each, in 1930.

It was at the Grove that Crosby's name became box office. In September, 1930, he was saying "I do" to Dixie Lee. Then he quit Arheim when he was refused a raise, and again was jobless and broke.

That was the end of the Rhythm Boys and the start of a "new" Crosby. He hired his brother Everett (who gave up a "new" business) to manage his career.

Bing Crosby, by 1931 was a "hot" commodity.

He made 12 records at $125 each for some quick honeymoon cash. Everett sold him to Mack Sennet for six musical shorts, each based on a popular song, at $750 a week. Remembers Mack: "Crosby was all hands, ears and hips. We tapped back his ears be-

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires. To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1001-A Grand Ave. Kansas City 6, Mo. A penny postcard will do.

cause they stuck out so far. One day the adhesive broke loose and Bing ripped it off swearing I wouldn't tape his ears again. I didn't.

Then came New York radio and the "Battle of the Crooners." Russ Columbo, violinist in Arheim's band, had turned singer and was the nation's No. 1 popular radio crooner. Within a week after Bing and Everett arrived in New York, Bing had a $600-a-week (soon raised to $3500) singing contract with CBS and a $1000-a-week contract for personal appearances on the stage of the Paramount Theater, where he was carried out on a crane over the audience's heads to croon his love songs. He was a sensation—the biggest hit Broadway could remember, the biggest hit radio could remember.

The money started to roll in, and Bing who had learned his lesson, kept telling Everett: "Put it in the bank before I spend it. Put it in the bank." Everett was way ahead of him. "Relax, kid, it's already in the bank."

By 1932 Crosby was back in Hollywood for his triple chores—movies, radio and recordings. Paramount signed him to his first starring contract in 1932.

No longer do they tape back his ears.

His only concession to being a movie star is that greasepaint and a $75 toupee. He hates them both.

There is no internal mail system among the 5,000 people on the island of St. Helena, but a large part of the government revenue comes from the sale of postage stamps to collectors.

Lammers-Gerke Marriage

Miss Winifred Lammers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lammers, Boonville, became the bride of Mr. Elwood J. Gerke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gerke of Pilot Grove at 9:00 o'clock Tuesday morning, January 23 at St. Peter and Paul Catholic church in Boonville.

The double ring service was read by the Rev. Msgr. W. F. Roels.

Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Dorothy Sue Cleary, organist, who also accompanied Miss Eunice Stretz, soloist. Miss Stretz sang, "On This Day, O, Beautiful Mother," "Ave Maria" and "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown fashioned with lace over satin, a gathered net yoke trimmed in pearl beading, tiny satin covered buttons that fastened down the back to the waistline, long sleeves tapering to points at the wrist and full gathered skirt which lengthened into an aisle wide train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a seed pearl tiara and she carried yellow roses and a white prayer book, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Bernice Schupp, cousin of the bride, of Pilot Grove, was maid of honor. Her gown was of blue taffeta with an overskirt of pink and blue net. She also carried a white prayer book with pink carnations and wore a blue lace headpiece.

Alice Rentel, the bride's cousin, was flower girl and wore a pale blue organdy gown. The ring bearer was Eugene Lang, cousin of the bridegroom. He wore a white suit.

Mr. Wilfred Gerke, Pilot Grove, served as best man for his brother and Mr. Virgil Lammers, the bride's brother of Boonville, was groomsmen.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom wore navy blue outfits and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Albert Smith, wore an aqua and black print dress.

A dinner was given for the wedding party and relatives at noon at the Rod and Gun club. Those assisting were Misses Irene Lang, Isabel Lang, Rose Mary Lang, Dorothy Lang, Doris Imhoff and Joan Lammers of Pilot Grove.

Decorations were blue and white with a three tiered wedding cake on which was a miniature bride and bridegroom.

A dance was held in the evening for relatives and friends.

The bride was graduated from Boonville Catholic high school last spring. The bridegroom is a member of the 1945 class of Pilot Grove high school.

The couple will be at home on a farm six miles west of Pilot Grove.

Family Reunion At Roe Home

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cole Roe, of Syracuse, Sunday, January 28, in celebration of Mr. Roe's birthday anniversary.

This has been an annual celebration for 25 years. Mr. Roe is a great grandson of Hannah Cole.

The table was covered with a linen tablecloth and centered with a birthday cake decorated with pink rosebuds. Tiny pink candles marked the places of the guests at the table. The afternoon was spent in visiting and taking pictures.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Oswald, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roe, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gander, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mason and son, Mark, of Topeka, L. T. Roe and son, Bill, of Roenoke, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Less Painter and Billy, of Boonville, Mr. and Mrs. George Roe and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hudgins and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ehlers, Miss Connie Putnam, of Sedalia, Mrs. Lena Doyle, of Jefferson City, Miss Gladys Putnam of Tipton, Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Oswald, Bobby White and

V. E. Oswald, all of Calhoun, and Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam and Martha, of Otterville.

Couple Married In Lexington

Mrs. Eula Houchen and Major E. A. Elliott were married at the parsonage of the Methodist church in Lexington, Mo., on Saturday afternoon, January 27, 1951, by Rev. H. U. Campbell, pastor of the church. The double ring service was read before the open fireplace. Two small lamps on either side of the mantel gave a subdued light to the room.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Mae Moser played "Sometime" and during the service she played softly, "Always."

The couple left for a wedding trip, after which they will return to Sedalia for the present and will reside at 715 Wilkerson street.

• Parties •

Miss Genevieve Billings, Smithton, route 1, was given a surprise birthday party at her home recently by members of her Sunday school class and its teacher, Mrs. Charles Schneider. The occasion was her sixteenth birthday anniversary.

The dining table was centered with a large decorated birthday cake with blue candles and table decorations were pink and white. The "birthday" song was sung, after which a fried chicken dinner was served by Miss Billings' mother and her sister Marjorie. The latter left later in the day for Shawnee, Okla., where she entered the Oklahoma Baptist university.

The afternoon was spent playing games.

The following were guests: Grace Schneider, Joan and Ruth Riley, Hazel and Patricia Barrett, Everett Billings, George Barrett and Kurman Henry Riley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kreiser entertained with a party at their home in Lincoln Saturday night. The occasion was in honor of Mrs. Kreiser's birthday anniversary and the evening was spent in playing canasta and pinochle.

Refreshments of sandwiches, birthday cake, ice cream and coffee were served by the hostess who was assisted in serving by Mrs. Fred Davis.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Lutjen and son Lyle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kullman and children, Kent and Karen.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gerken and children entertained with a party at their home near Lincoln Sunday night.

The evening was spent in conversation and playing games and refreshments of cake, jello, sandwiches and coffee were served by the hostess who was assisted in serving by Mrs. Wilbur Repper.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jaekel and son Billie, Mrs. Lola Wenig and daughters, Marietta and Lois, Mr. and Mrs. Reinhardt Rotermund and son David, Mr. and Mrs. Reinhardt Miller and children, Mr. and Mrs. C. Gerken of Chanute, Kas., who arrived here Sunday evening for a few days visit with his brother, Norman, his mother, Mrs. Tillie Gerken of Lincoln and other relatives and friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jaekel entertained with a party at their home west of Lincoln Wednesday night.

The evening was spent in playing pinochle and refreshments of cake and fruit salad topped with whipped cream, sandwiches and coffee was served by the hostess who was assisted in serving by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Oscar Jaekel.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Don Hedrick, Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart Rotermund, Kay and David, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gerken and children, Lorna, Larry and Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meuschke and daughter, Marva Lee, Mr.

Bell Phones Reach to 8,505

Since 1946 a Total Of 2769 Have Been Added Here

Eighty-five hundred and five telephones are now in service in the Sedalia exchange, Z. Lyle Brown, district manager for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, said today in commenting on the growth of Sedalia's telephone system. On January 1, 1946, there were 5,736 telephones, which means there are 2,769 more telephones here today. This is an increase in telephones of approximately 48 per cent in five years.

"Nearly one million dollars has been spent during the last five years to expand and improve the telephone system here, and the telephone company has added large quantities of telephone equipment since 1945 to meet the demand for service," Brown said. He pointed out that Sedalia telephones now carry over 45,000 local calls a day, or 15,000 a day more than in 1940. "There are now located in Sedalia 142 telephone people to operate and maintain the system; and the annual payroll is about $350,000," Brown continued.

Service to Farmers
"During 1950 we continued the tremendous task of extending telephone lines in the Sedalia area. This has brought new and improved telephone service to nearly 300 farmers," Brown said. "The Sedalia rural telephone project cost approximately $300,000. "Rural residents now have good, dependable, all-weather service similar to that in town," Brown explained, "and no more than eight telephones are connected to any one line. Because of 'divided ringing' each subscriber hears his own ring and those of only three of his neighbors."

"To help bring telephone service to farmers within the State of Missouri power line carrier is being used in some rural areas," Brown stated. The M-1 power line carrier is a Bell laboratories development enabling telephone conversations to literally "hitch-hike" on the same lines that deliver electric power. This carrier is being used successfully to bring telephones to rural subscribers in many sections of Missouri never before reached by telephone lines. According to Brown all telephone subscribers in the Sedalia area benefit by the 800 rural telephones served from Sedalia since every one can now call more people in a wider area. "The Sedalia rural telephone is part of a nation-wide program by the Bell Telephone system to provide more and better service to rural residents in the areas served by Bell exchanges," he added.

Brown pointed out that, "today 69 per cent of the Sedalia families have telephone service, while on December 31, 1940 only 41 per cent had service." In mentioning this huge growth, Brown emphasized that the telephone company always attempts to meet customer demand; "consequently tremendous building programs during periods of high construction costs are not only unavoidable but are actually a public duty," he added.

Investment Near Doubled
"The investment dollars to furnish telephone service have nearly doubled since 1940, with most of the increase coming since 1945," Brown continued. "In 1940, the average investment per telephone was $233; the net cost for each telephone added since 1946 is $411, and costs are still going up depreciation expenses and taxes go up correspondingly, so if for no other reason," Brown pointed out, "we face a future of higher and higher investment against which there will be a lower and lower net income. Brown commented that 'all businessmen have these things in common: Money is taken in from customers who buy products or services; money is paid out from the money taken in, for expenses—including wages, cost of materials, services purchased, etc.; out of what is left, taxes must be paid; after expenses and taxes are paid, what remains is earnings: Mr. Businessman then and Mrs. Oscar Jaekel and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hansen and children, Janice, Darryl and Dwayne.

tries and commercial establishments were requested to reduce their demand by 50 per cent.

Water conservation measures were instituted at Princeton which has been supplying nearly a dozen smaller towns in that area with water. William Rutledge, manager of the water plant, said the city was faced with building up a reserve supply in case of fire.

The state highway department reported that main routes, except those in the far southeast, were generally clear.

A light snow fell this morning in St. Louis, bringing the total fall to four inches here.

Cold Lingers On

By The Associated Press

The winter season's coldest and stormiest weather showed no signs of abating today. In many parts of the country it got worse.

Fresh blasts of cold air struck over western and mid-continent areas. Snow, sleet and rain pelted wide sections of the east and south.

Texas took another beating from the wintry elements. Losses to livestock and to the citrus crop were estimated in the millions of dollars from the season's worst storm and cold.

New cold air masses pushed across the Canadian border today, sending temperatures to as low as 35 below zero in parts of the rocky mountain region and to near -30 in the north central states. Skies generally were clear over the western half of the country.

Freezing rain and sleet whipped over an area from Louisiana and Mississippi northeastward into Tennessee and Kentucky. Snow fell in the areas north and west.

Another band of freezing rain and sleet swept areas from southern New England and New York state southward into North Carolina. Rain fell over other parts of the southeastern states.

The ice and snow storms in the south isolated many cities from outside communications, closed scores of highways, schools and business places. Ice-coated power lines snapped, cutting off telephone and electric service to thousands.

Far Into South

Snow measured up to 10 inches over Arkansas and the western two-thirds of Tennessee was hit by the worst ice storm in history. The ice storm and cold also hit northern Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

Moderate to heavy snow fell over northern New England. Rain and freezing rain fell in southern New England after yesterday's snowfall which measured more than four inches. The snow storm followed the season's coldest weather.

Air and motor travel in many parts of the snow and sleet belt was hampered. Hundreds were injured in falls. The Boston City hospital alone treated nearly 100 persons.

The nation's ice storms and cold weather this week have resulted in more than 80 deaths. In Texas alone the toll was 18 including five who died from exposure.

It was 10 below zero in Amarillo, Tex., early today.

The snow, sleet and freezing rain which struck from the panhandle deep into the trinity valley in the east and the lower Rio Grande valley, damaged tender crops and livestock. Houston cattlemen figured livestock losses in the Houston area may exceed $6,000,000.

Some lower Rio Grande valley citrus growers estimated citrus losses would be in the millions of dollars. They said the prolonged hard-freeze may put the valley out of the citrus business temporarily. Vegetable crops suffered heavy damage.

The valley section is virtually isolated from bus, wire or plane communications. Trains were running hours late. Florida and southern Georgia were the only areas enjoying mild weather today, U. S. forecasters said.

Temperatures early today dropped to 35 below in Butte, Mont., -27 in Grantsburg, Wis., -26 in Fargo, N. D., and -23 in Denver. At the same time it was 72 in Miami.

Temperatures dropped sharply over parts of Colorado late last night. In Denver, the mercury dipped from -2 to -24 in seven hours for a new low mark for the date.

Southeastern Wyoming also had sub-zero marks, with -32 at Laramie and -23 at Cheyenne. It was -26 at Big Piney, Wyo., often listed as the nation's coldest spot.

Bullets of Snipers Whiz As Guns Roar

By Jim Becker (For Hal Boyle)

WESTERN FRONT, Korea.—(AP)—What does a man think about when another man is shooting at him?

Cpl. Edward Chaney of Ola, Ark., asked "Do you hear those bees (snipers' bullets) buzzing?"

Cpl. Earl Zuckorh of El Reno, Okla., said "If you think this is bad, you should hear that zip when you are riding in a jeep. You don't know whether to speed up, slow down or stop dead and drive in a ditch."

Capt. Herbert Brannon of Kansas City, commented: "He isn't a very good shot but I think he's got one of our snipers' rifles."

Sgt. William H. Griffin of Newport, Ark., said "I am going to get him."

And what does a man, who was the sniper's original target, think? I can answer that one all right.

When the first bullet whizzed by my ear I thought "What was that?" I stupidly exposed myself while watching a U. N. unit charge a hill 300 yards away. Close by me a tank was pounding the Reds on the hill and they were scurrying from the murderous blast like ants. Some of them scurried on their hands and knees.

Then the sniper opened up from a well-hidden hole on the hill. When the second shot zipped past I thought "This guy is trying to kill me."

The six of us—Chaney, Zuckorh, Cpl. Thomas Smith of Eckhart, Md., Mr. Brannon, Griffin and I—ducked behind a tank. Our boots stuck in the glue-like mud into which the springlike sun had melted the once frozen hills. But we got there pretty fast anyway.

While we crouched behind our welcome shield we talked. Our sniper was a persistent fellow. He fired 30 or 40 rounds in the general vicinity. One unfortunate doughboy behind us was winced in the hand. Other bullets splattered close to the tank.

An ammunition bearer, who was so busy he didn't notice the commotion strolled serenely across the skyline. "If he gets hit, I want those pretty pants," said one of our crouching group.

The bearer was wearing a fleecelined windbreaking pair of pants over his regular trousers.

As we waited for someone to stop our sniper the talk turned to the war. "We've been pretty lucky," said one of the six. "We've only lost two men in all the time we have been over here."

"You're forgetting that tall guy from Tennessee, said another.

"Did he get killed?"

"Just the other day."

There wasn't any talk for a while and then Smith pulled out a pack of cigarettes and offered them around. When he didn't get any takers he reproached us.

"They're from the states. Notice the blue tax stamp?"

"Why cigarettes clear from the states?" another asked. "We get plenty over here."

"I just got homesick for that blue tax stamp."

Cigarettes furnished to the GIs here are tax free and do not carry that blue stamp so familiar to stateside smokers.

Soon Griffin left our group. The sniper's bullets continued to whine by. Then Griffin's rifle cracked several times and we heard no more.

"He just fired a couple times too often," said Griffin. "After a few rounds those weapons heat up and you can see the smoke

Girl Scouts Play Friday Night

The "Sleeping Beauty," a musical fairy tale, will be presented Friday evening, February 2, at the Smith-Cotton high school by the Girl Scouts.

The "Sleeping Beauty" is a familiar fairy tale that all people love from childhood to adulthood. In our version of the story, the events that happen throughout are enriched with dance routines by all members of that cast.

In the beginning Princess Aurora is born to the happy king and queen. But she is bewitched by the awful crone Uglyane. The fairies all love the princess and do what they can to comfort the bereaved king and queen. The witch plans a scheme whereby the princess pricks her finger while spinning. This causes her to fall into deep sleep. Knowing that the entire household will be unhappy, the good fairy decided to cast a spell over all people in the castle so that they might sleep along with the princess. Many years passed before Prince Charming arrived at the castle and found members of the household still asleep. He finds the beautiful Princess Aurora and kisses her and awakens her from the spell cast upon her by the terrible witch.

In time the other members are awakened and the story ends happily with the prince and princess planning their wedding day.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Advisers Endorse St. Lawrence Seaway

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright 1951 By The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

WASHINGTON—President Truman and top advisers decided last week that the St. Lawrence waterway, a raging issue in Congress for two decades, must no longer be delayed if the United States is to maintain a strong defense in the future.

Most surprising endorsement of the seaway came from Mobilization Boss Charles Wilson, who once opposed it. However, even such implacable foe as Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Rep. Charles Buckley of New York have now promised not to impede the proposed canal joining Detroit and Chicago with the Atlantic ocean.

Citing the need for quick action, two-fisted Rep. John Blatnik of Minnesota, leading House crusader for the St. Lawrence waterway, told the White House meeting: "There is no need for long hearings on this. We know the whole story from previous hearings. We also know that we face a serious deficit of iron ore for defense (steel) in the next few years unless we draw on the vast deposits in Labrador the proposed waterway can bring us."

"There's still another reason," suggested President Truman. "Canada has been waiting 41 years for us to help her construct the waterway and is getting impatient. If we don't move now, Canada may go ahead with the construction of the canal and electric-power development without our partnership. If that happens, there will be no joint control of the waterway. Instead, Canada will have complete control and ownership."

"Isn't it a lot better," continued the President, "to accept the joint partnership control Canada has offered us and make sure that our interests in this vital link to Canadian ore deposits are safeguarded in the future?"

"I think so," agreed Wilson, former head of General Electric. "When electric power was the main factor of the proposed seaway, I was against it, because there were other ways to get power. But navigation and the need for Canadian ore are now the paramount considerations."

Texas Tom Yields

Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman also supported Truman, as did two other potent figures at the closed-door conference, Maj. Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of army engineers, and GOF Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

Wiley remarked that if Truman "held a few more meetings like this one, I'll bet you could convince the railroad owners who have been blocking the seaway." Turning to Senator Connally, the Wisconsinite jibed: "Tom, you've done a little blocking yourself."

When the big Texan growled a denial, Wiley continued: "Well, then you've stacked subcommittees against the bill."

"What you mean to say is that I have refused to go along with you when you tried to get me to stack subcommittees with proponents of the St. Lawrence waterway," shot back Connally.

However, Texas Tom made it clear that he wouldn't stand in the way if the majority of both Houses favored the waterway. He even managed a smile when, sitting close to Wiley for a news picture, the Wisconsin senator wisecracked: "I see you've shifted to my side."

Truman's Old Crony

It is now pretty well agreed that one of the best things Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia ever did was to stop the appointment of the President's crony, Mon Wallgren, to be chairman of the National Security Resources board.

Thank in part of Senator Byrd, the ex-senator from Washington was shunted from the vitally important war board to what was considered a safe roosting place, the chairmanship of the Federal Power commission.

Here, however, Wallgren has been such a flop that even his old friend in the White House is reported disappointed with him.

Wallgren's latest dilatoriness is a move to transfer the Federal Power commission to Colorado Springs—because the climate is better. Also Mon would be nearer his home state of Washington where he wants to run for the Senate again. Finally, Mon has some real estate in southern California and he wants to be closer to it than Washington, D. C.

On top of this, Wallgren seems to have forgotten one of the most courageous battles ever staged by his friend in the White House—namely, Truman's veto of the Kerr natural gas bill.

Vigorous wire-pullers for this bill were Senator Kerr, Oklahoma, and his silent oil partner, Phillips Petroleum. Phillips is now up for investigation by the FPC for unnecessarily hiking rates to the state of Wisconsin and the city of Detroit. Fear of these high rates was one reason why Truman vetoed the Kerr bill. But despite this, Wallgren voted against his old friend in the White House to sidetrack the probe.

The investigation of Phillips was requested by Wisconsin and Detroit two long years ago. In that year—1948—Phillips paid dividends of

Your New Social Security

By Scott Webber

(Manager of the Sedalia Social Security Office)

(By Scott Webber, Manager, Sedalia, Mo., Field Office.)

Today we will bring together in one article the principal changes in social security made by the 1950 amendments.

First, nearly ten million workers heretofore excluded from social security were brought into the system January 1, 1951. These include the self-employed (other than farmers and members of certain professions), regular farm workers, regular household workers, employees of non-profit organizations under certain conditions, employees of State and local governments brought in by means of voluntary agreements between the States and the Federal Security Administrator, temporary Federal employees not under a retirement system, and a few miscellaneous groups.

People now receiving social security payments have had their monthly checks increased. These increases range from about 50 per cent for the highest benefit groups to 100 per cent for the lower groups. For example, a person formerly getting $40 a month in insurance payments as a retired worker now receives about $64. Anyone formerly receiving $10 to $15 a month is now getting double that amount. The widow and two children of an insured worker with combined insurance payments of $70 under the old law now gets $128. The maximum payable to a family has been raised from $85 to $150.

It is much easier to become eligible for payments. Only a year and a half of work under social security will be necessary if a worker reaches sixty-five or dies before the end of June 1954. Anyone over sixty-five now needs only the six quarter-years of work. Thousands heretofore denied social security because of insufficient work will be paid under the new law.

Formerly, beneficiaries could not receive their insurance payments for any month in which they earned more than $14.99 in work covered by the law. Now, they can earn as much as $50 a month and still receive their benefits. Those seventy-five years of age or over may accept social security payments regardless of the amount of their earnings.

Several changes in amounts and types of payments have been made. As before, the child's benefit is one-half the amount of the parent's primary amount, but now in death cases, an additional one-fourth of the primary amount is divided equally among all the entitled children in the family.

An aged husband or widower may receive benefits on his wife's record if she was both fully and currently insured and if he was dependent on her.

Dependent parents sixty-five or over will receive three-fourths of the worker's primary amount instead of one-half as before.

A wife under sixty-five whose husband is receiving old-age insurance payments may receive payments also if she has in her care a child entitled to benefits based on her husband's account.

A divorced former wife of a deceased worker may be entitled to mother's insurance benefits if she has in her care a child entitled to payments based on the worker's wages, and if she was receiving at least half of her support from the worker at the time of his death.

In all cases where workers die in September 1950 or later, a lump-sum payment may also be made even though monthly benefits are also payable.

Wage credits of $160 per month will be given for each month of active service in the armed forces of the United States in World War II. This will make possible retirement payments and death payments in many cases where a worker otherwise lost his insured status because of long period of service in the army or navy.

There are two times when special action should be taken concerning social security. At age of sixty-five a worker should call at his nearest social security office and receive full advice as to his eligibility for payments. Whenever any worker dies after having worked under social security at all, the nearest relative should call at the nearest social security office so that the account may be examined and a determination made as to what payments are available to survivors. No payments can be made until a claim is filed.

Those having questions about their social security should feel free to call at the nearest social security office to ask them. There are 486 such offices located throughout the United States, and representatives of those offices visit many smaller towns on a regular schedule. Your postmaster can tell you where the nearest social security office is and whether a representative will be in your town and how often. In Sedalia 18.7 per cent on common stock and surplus, but even so, hiked its rates to northern gas users.

Pipeline Politics

Most recent move by Wallgren which is against Truman policy is to O. K. a $58,000,000 natural gas pipeline to New England for Texas Eastern—which cooperates with and helps to protect Koppers Coke, a part of the Andrew Mellon industrial empire. This line was opposed by both Democrat and Republican leaders in New England, including Gov. Sherman Adams and Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, both Republicans; and Senators McMahon of Connecticut and Green of Rhode Island, both Democrats. They favor the cheaper $38,000,000 northeastern pipeline to New England, claim New England cannot afford to be saddled with two lines and such heavy expense.

Note A lot of politics—both Democratic and Republican—is mixed up in this power commission maneuvering. On the Democratic side, it was Phillips Petroleum which conveniently put its private plane at the disposal of Democratic bigwigs to fly to Kansas City for the Bill Boyle dinner. On the Republican side it is Phillips Petroleum which hires Neil Tolman as its Washington lobbyist. Tolman, former campaign manager for GOP Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, is a potent means of reaching the Federal Power commission. For Bridges packs powerful influence with Nelson Lee Smith, also from New Hampshire and GOP member of the commission.

Prep School Goes on the Air For 'Letters' Back Home

By NEA Service

POTTSTOWN, Pa. — (NEA) — The teen-age boy leaned close to the microphone, and rattled off a stream of excited, high-speed Spanish. From the receiver came the answering voice, an old woman's voice. The boy smiled happily. It was another triumph for W3MWL.

The boy is a student at the Hill School, a prep school for boys here. The old woman was his ailing grandmother, in Caracas, Venezuela. The two were brought in contact by W3MWL, an amateur radio station at the school, and one of the few "ham" stations attached to a prep school.

The outfit is run by the school's Radio Club, under the direction of faculty advisor Ken Jackman. On almost every Saturday and Sunday morning, foreign students at the school cluster around the set, talking with their parents via W3MWL and pre-arranged contact with ham operators in other countries.

Recently, they heard a station in Germany calling anybody in the U. S. They answered and were told that a GI, stationed in Germany, had just received his transfer orders.

The soldier's wife was about to leave her Kansas home, to join her husband. Could W3MWL telegraph the girl and tell her to wait? The boys at the Hill School Radio Club carried out the request.

Jackman, in addition to advising the Radio Club, also teaches. In one of his classes, the question of how salmon fingerlings got past the Grand Coulee Dam came up. Jackman contacted a ham in Seattle, who was an engineer at the dam. He relayed the boys' questions to the Seattle operator, and took down the replies on a tape recorder.

side, I want to write what I've seen and heard.

Bible Takes on New Meaning

The primary purpose of my visit to Palestine was to see first hand the land out of which my own religious faith has grown. As I have walked the streets and hills of this country my Bible has taken on new meaning. Its stories have come to life for me.

Now, like the man in Jesus' parable, I too, have "gone down from Jerusalem to Jericho." When I descended 3,400 feet in the 21 miles to find myself nearly 900 feet below sea level, I realized the accuracy of Jesus' statement. I have been to Hebron where the desert warrior David established his capital for the seven years he required to capture Jerusalem. I have seen "shepherds watching their flocks by night." I have visited Ramah, birthplace of Samuel; Bethel with its memories of Jacob; Shiloh, a holy place of the Hebrews with its memories of Eli and Samuel.

Drinks at Jacob's Well

Just as Jesus did, 2,000 years ago, I too, paused on my way to Jerusalem to quench my thirst at Jacob's well. I recalled his immortal conversation with the Samaritan woman there beside this very well (John 4). I recalled her reply, "Our fathers worshipped in this mountain," and glanced up to see towering above me Mount Gerizim, sacred unto the Samaritans to this day.

Yesterday I spent much time walking among the ruins of ancient Samaria, built and made famous by Kings Omri and Ahab. Today it is a deserted hilltop of ruined buildings and overgrown streets. This was once the capital of a rich and prosperous people. Lying among the fertile valleys of upper Palestine, this was once the hope of Israel. I saw there only a silent reminder of the truth that "those who exalt themselves shall be abased."

I am discovering that in this tiny country every mountain, river, well, or wadi is haunted by the "spirit of one or more of Israel's kings, prophets or warriors." Surely no other land in the world has so much history and tradition per square mile as this one.

After a few days here I shall go through the military lines that divide Palestine, passing from the Hashimite kingdom of Trans-Jordan to the new state of Israel.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Wayne Richardson
Mrs. Mary F. Richardson, 45, wife of Wayne Richardson, 1420 West Broadway, died this morning at 7:45 o'clock at the Bothwell hospital, after a long illness.

Mrs. Richardson was born June 12, 1905, near Blackwater, Mo. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Wayne Warren and Donald Charles, both of the home; her father, Theodore Griffith, 2703 East Twelfth street, and one sister, Mrs. Dale Johnson of Home, Kas.

Funeral services will be held at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Fifth Street Methodist church.

The body is at the Gillespie funeral home, where it will remain until Friday afternoon when it will be taken to the family home and then returned to Gillespie's Saturday afternoon at the funeral home.

Sherman J. Oswald
Sherman J. Oswald, 85, died at the home of his daughter Mrs. C. E. Snider, Independence on Thursday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock. He had resided with her for the past few years.

Mr. Oswald, a retired farmer was born in Cooper county, the son of the late Chris and Elizabeth Oswald and lived most of his life in Pilot Grove and Syracuse. He was a member of the Gemran Lutheran church.

He was married to Ida Foster in 1907. She preceded him in death in 1943.

Surviving Mr. Oswald are two daughters Mrs. Snider of Independence and Mrs. William Fulton of Rock Point, Maryland and two sons Everett W. Oswald, 1707 South Park avenue and George F. Oswald of Ottumwa.

The body will be taken to the Richards funeral home in Tipton. Funeral arrangements are pending, awaiting word from Mrs. Fulton in Maryland, but the services have been tentatively set for 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Syracuse Baptist church. Burial will be at Syracuse.

Mrs. Bertie Kuykendall
Mrs. Bertie Kuykendall, 69 years old, wife of Charles H. Kuykendall, of Ottumwa, died at 11:00 o'clock Wednesday night at her home following a heart attack.

The body is at the Hayes-Painter funeral home at Ottumwa.

Funeral of Mrs. Wall
Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret L. Wall, 86, 2111 East Broadway, who died Tuesday morning at the Bothwell hospital, where she had been a patient for a week, were held this afternoon at the Gillespie funeral home at 2:00 o'clock. The Rev. H. H. Hays, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated.

The body will be in the Memorial Park cemetery.

Must Give Aid Gen. 'Ike' Declares

ly imperiled."

Refers To Dependency

Calling attention to the dependency of the United States on strategic materials produced in other parts of the world, Eisenhower noted that this country imports manganese, copper and uranium, the latter the principal ingredient of the atom bomb.

The United States now is getting a major share of uranium from the Belgian Congo.

Eisenhower said western Europe is "so important to our future that we cannot afford to do less than our best to make sure it does not go down the drain."

Urging speed, he said, "let us not forget there is not a moment to waste."

He said the nation must devise a program for security that can be supported over the next 20 or 30 years or more.

He said we must be ready at all times and "one of the important times to be ready is today."

Eisenhower said that at present our western European allies have little in the way of munitions production. But, he added, their potential is growing.

He urged that this country "have patience with our allies," for "some of their problems are very great," and said France has promised to supply "25 battle-worthy divisions" by the end of 1952.

At the outset, he told them he has "no end to serve except the good of the United States," and appealed for belief in the "sincerity of my convictions." The Congress members applauded.

Eisenhower went on to say we have to operate on the assumption that we are deeply concerned with the defense "of our way of life."

He said that embraces freedom of the individual and an economy of free enterprise.

The five star general then declared the goal must be "the common good of the free nations."

In earnest tones, he told the legislators they soon may be forced to make decisions which will determine the course of civilization. He added that those decisions involve whether free governments will continue to exist.

Not Seen as Threat

His tour of Europe was made to determine both the possibilities of defending Europe against the threat of Russian aggression and the readiness and ability of Europe to defend itself.

Eisenhower said it was a fallacy to believe the strengthening of western Europe's defenses would invite attack by the Communists.

This was a contention Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has made in opposing the sending of a large U. S. land army to Europe.

Eisenhower said his survey of Europe gave him only a "meager base" on which to recommend American help in manning western Europe's defenses.

But he stoutly contended that what the western nations are trying to do "cannot honestly be considered by any other nation as a threat to its existence."

He said the western European defense force is not being mobilized for any belligerent or aggressive purpose.

"We are going to build for ourselves a secure wall of peace," the lawmakers arose and applauded when Eisenhower, in full uniform, appeared before them. The 510-seat hall was filled.

Mrs. Eisenhower, wearing a red dress and black hat, was seated in the front of the auditorium with a group of women members of Congress.

Vice President Barkley presiding at the informal gathering, told the Congress members Eisenhower would talk an hour or more, but there would be no opportunity for them to question him.

However, two key senate committees—those on foreign relations and the armed forces—had a question and answer meeting scheduled with Eisenhower for 2:30 p. m. (EST).

Three of 12 in Escape From Hospital Back

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Three of a dozen men who fled a state hospital criminal ward here were recaptured this morning—eleven blocks west of state police headquarters.

The trio surrendered without resistance to Lt. Allen Templeton and Sgt. Floyd Short of the state police. The men had taken refuge in a house occupied by an elderly couple. The officers said the couple was unharmed, but "scared to death."

Another of the fugitives was picked up last night, three hours after the 12 men overpowered four attendants and escaped from the state hospital for nervous diseases.

Eleven of them, all charged with felonies, were being held for observation.

The eight men still at large were described as "potentially dangerous." At least one of them was armed.

The three men taken today were identified as David Coffman, 18, Denver, Colo.; Jerry Lee Gann, 18, and Gene Larry Caywood, 19, both of Genark, Ark. Carl Merriam, ex-boxer and mental patient, was taken into custody without resistance at a bus station here last night.

None of the men was dressed adequately for the freezing weather and snowstorm when they stormed from the hospital last night. All were bareheaded.

Some fled on foot; some in an automobile belonging to one of the four attendants, assaulted in a 15-minute struggle on the third floor criminal ward.

One of the escaping men, armed with a table leg, suggested killing the attendants, but heeded pleas of patients who intervened.

The break touched off a big manhunt, reminiscent of last year's manhunt in Arkansas for four prison fugitives. Highways were heavy with snow, but passable.

When Little Rock radio stations interrupted programs last night to announce the break, residents hastily locked their windows and doors. The state hospital is situated on a knoll adjacent war memorial Pulaski Heights residential district.

One of the men still at large is charged with murder. Coffman, taken today, and two teen-aged companions, one a girl, were wounded after a gun battle with state police in north Arkansas, Dec. 29.

When the break occurred, another drama was being enacted at the hospital. Crews of workmen sought to prevent possible collapse of a building housing 350 women and children.

After an all-night effort, the latest word was that the roof apparently has been secured.

railroad workers to weigh the effect of the tie-ups on defense preparations and the fighting in Korea.

A St. Louis business leader asserted the "sick" strikes "border on treason." This remark came from Carl Glessow, director of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce transportation bureau.

Defense officials in Washington were pressuring the carriers, unions and the national mediation board to hasten a settlement of the wage and hour deadlock.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Some 7,000 auto and brewery workers were idle here today because of the crippling switchmen's strike which has tied up rail freight and disrupting passenger, express and parcel post service.

Thirty-four scheduled passenger train arrivals and departures were cancelled as the strike went into its second day. And new embargoes were declared on express and parcel post.

Being Held in Postal Theft trio had walked the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks, looking when even a train passed, took to the highway at McGirk, Mo., and at Centertown stole a car which was left in Jefferson City. At Jefferson City they took a bus into St. Louis.

Hendrickson has been released to federal authorities at Kansas City for further questioning in connection with the Freeman post office robbery and other robberies of post offices.

Walkouts in the Auto Industry
DETROIT, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Detroit's auto industry reported more than 43,000 workers off the job today in a snowballing series of walkouts and materials shortages.

Chrysler Corp. had the largest number of employees affected, sending home 15,200 during the day from five plants.

The layoffs were believed to have been caused at least in part by a walkout of 5,000 at the Budd Co. The Budd dispute stemmed from the transfer of three employees from one job to another.

A continuing strike at Kaiser-Frazier idled 8,000 men. A materials shortage idled 15,000 Hudson Motor Car Co. employees.

Hudson, however, ordered its workers to return Friday after a one-day layoff.

Suspended at Training School
CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Suspension of Mrs. Dorothy Forrester Roberts, superintendent of the Missouri State Training School for Girls, was announced today by W. E. Sears, director of training schools.

Also included in the order handed down by the state training school board was her husband, Wilson E. Roberts, director of education at the school.

Sears did not disclose whether the action had any connection with a mysterious injury suffered by Mrs. J. D. Allen, a house parent at the school. Mrs. Allen suffered a scalp laceration and bruises on the face and shoulders the night of January 22. The board, headed by John J. Griffin, St. Louis, conducted an investigation but did not make the findings public.

Truck and Trailer Licenses Due Feb. 5
The Motor Vehicle Registration Division of the State of Missouri has notified Ben P. Robinson, deputy license commissioner for Pettis county, that truck and trailer license renewal will be due Monday, February 5.

A $2.00 delinquent fee will be charged on license renewals on trucks and trailers after that date.

VA Dividend to be Paid in April
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Veterans Administration said today it will distribute a $685,000,000 life insurance dividend this year, starting in April.

The announcement of the dividend's size has long been awaited by World War II veterans, holders of the 8,000,000 National Service checks, who are eligible for checks.

VA said the payments will occur throughout the year on the policy anniversary dates.

The formula for paying the dividend has not yet been completed. The amount of each dividend will vary according to the number of months the policy was in force, the plan of insurance, the face value of the policy, and the age of the holder at the time it became effective.

"I WANT TO TELL THIS TO WOMEN IN YOUR 40's"

I find Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound wonderful to relieve distress of "change of life"

"Any woman between the ages of 38 and 52 should be interested in my experience. I was going through functional change of life and found myself terribly embarrassed from hot flashes, and I felt so nervous, easily upset because of this. "What really shocked me was when I overheard my husband explaining my shortcomings behind my back. He said, 'Don't mind Louise—she's going through change of life.' That made up my mind. I had heard how effective Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was for relieving such symptoms, and I decided then and there to try it. Thank heavens I did. "I find Pinkham's Compound simply marvelous to relieve embarrassing symptoms due to this cause. In fact I now take Lydia Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against hot flashes, tense emotions, flighty, nervous, tired feelings—due to this cause. I wish anyone who troubled this way would try this great medicine." P. S. Pinkham's Compound tastes swell in a little fruit juice or plain water. A wonderfully effective medicine made especially for women.

Early Lecturers Expected Rudeness in Missouri--and Sometimes Found it

By the State Historical Society of Missouri at Columbia
Floyd C. Shoemaker, Sec'y.

"What's he done?" asked a servant at the Planter's House in St. Louis in 1856, when told that William Makepeace Thackeray was a guest. This uninformed servant represented only one part of Missouri's population, but this was the part that best characterized the state in the minds of many eastern and foreign lecturers.

Then St. Louis Mercantile Library Association, one of the most active organizations in the lyceum field, after trying in 1852 to procure prominent speakers for its lecture series, complained that outsiders had a badly mistaken idea about the condition of life and civilization in and around St. Louis. Frontier manners were expected there, they said — "a rude roughness, a taste for a stump speech, a population eminently qualified to appreciate a bear fight and judge of the qualities of pork, upon whom the elaborately wrought, learned lecture would be thrown away."

Perhaps there were some grounds for such expectations, however, for as late as 1882 Oscar Wilde complained that his St. Louis audience was "villainous." Having drawn unappreciative laughter, whistling and stomping of feet from the "tough boys" on the back row throughout his lecture, he left the platform abruptly, declaring that he had received "the worst treatment in America."

But such complaints were the exception rather than the rule. Although the lyceum groups did at times have difficulty in enticing outside speakers to what was considered the "back woods," still they presented many outstanding local scholars and managed to bring in such people as Thackeray, Emerson, Bret Harte, Henry Ward Beecher and Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Feeling self-conscious about their pioneer heritage and lack of culture, the people of Missouri made great efforts to equal the intellectual attainments of the east and early in the 1800's began holding lecture courses, lyceums and debates. Thus the lyceum platform became a tradition, not only in St. Louis, "the Athens of the West," as she liked to consider herself, but also in many other Missouri towns. While the

St. Louis lyceum was debating whether or not capital punishment should be abolished, the Liberty lyceum discussed "Is man a free moral agent?" and "Is conscience innate?" and the St. Joseph lyceum debated "Are the inferior animals immortal?"

Such lectures and discussions, sometimes costing no more than one dollar for a course of twenty lectures, with "ladies admitted free," proved highly popular and led the president of one society to remark that "the sceptre of learning was fast passing from the hands of the few into the possession of many." Occasionally this "learning" was none too reliable, as when the St. Louis lyceum held a debate on phrenology between four doctors. They debated about two hours then referred the question to the audience, which decided "that phrenology is entitled to the confidence and belief of the public." Speakers and debates covered almost every conceivable subject, from "Matter and the phenomena of its composition and decomposition in the formation of the earth and its products," to "The responsibilities of man."

But by the last quarter of the century the lyceum movement was on the wane, members of the library association observing that "the conditions under which lecture lyceums came into existence in this country have entirely passed away." Perhaps the growth of schools, libraries, and the great improvements in communications precluded the need for lyceums. At any rate, the institution died nearly as rapidly as it had been born and for many years has been almost a thing of the past.

Evidence from Swiss lake dwelling units indicate that men were herding sheep in 8,250 B. C. and that the occupation was ancient even then.

Pitching as Weakness of Dodgers in '50

(This is another of a series of articles written by the major league managers for the Associated Press under their own bylines giving a preview of their teams for 1951 and sizing up the other clubs)

Brooklyn Dodgers
By Charlie Dessen

BROOKLYN, Jan. 31—(AP)—As you know, I have been away from Brooklyn since 1946. However, I do know that the main weakness last year was the pitching. To offset this we have added several pitchers from our minor league clubs. We also intend to work our pitching staff different from the previous years. We think that by doing so, it will improve the staff over last year.

The rookie from whom I expect help is Ray Moore, a right-handed pitcher, who has made a good record in the minor leagues. Scouts have assured me that he has major league ability. If he can control his stuff, he will make the club. Another is Lamar Bridges, a shortstop who had a good year at Montreal. He is a good fielder they say, and he is ready.

No. 3 on the list is Chris Van Gundy, a left-handed pitcher who spent most of last season at Fort Worth in the Texas league. He finished with Brooklyn and his record indicated he has the stuff. His work with the Dodgers last year should help him a great deal this year.

Another rookie who should help us is Don Thompson, a left-handed hitting outfielder who had a fine year at Montreal. He has played enough ball to know how to play. He started as a pitcher but went to the outfield and has improved very fast. Another who would be a cinch if he can hit major league pitching is Jim Maxey, a third baseman at Hollywood last year. He can field and possesses a rifle arm. He also has power but is not an average hitter.

I think our club will improve over last year because we intend to have a stronger bench. Most all of our players served in the last war. Most of them are married and have children. Then we have a few above the age limit so therefore, at present we are pretty well fixed for the military draft.

As for the rest of the league, the Giants have improved and also the Braves. Philadelphia lost a good pitcher in Curt Simmons who will be hard to replace. St. Louis also has improved a great deal. I think it will be a close race among Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis. I am judging from the rosters as they stand today. Of course, if there is a drastic change in the military setup, my information probably will be useless.

Williams Belts Cardell To Win TKO In Ninth

DETROIT, Feb. 1—(AP)—Light-weight champion Ike Williams ran into a mighty tough customer last night and had to hit young Vic Cardell of Hartford, Conn., with everything in the book before stopping him via a TKO. Cardell failed to answer the bell for the ninth round.

Williams, a prohibitive 4-1 favorite over his young and less experienced opponent, closed Cardell's left eye and bloodied his right but was unable to floor him.

A battered Cardell was unable to answer the bell for the ninth round of the scheduled non-title 10-rounder after absorbing a truckload of punishment in the seventh and eighth stanzas.

Cardell, at 145, had a two pound edge but that was his only advantage as he was no match for the champion.

JOPLIN, Mo., Feb. 1—(AP)—Charles E. (Gabby) Street, the man of many stories after nearly 50 years in baseball, is gravely ill.

He was placed in an oxygen tent Tuesday night at St. John's hospital. Only members of his immediate family could see him. A heart ailment developed following his entrance to the hospital a week ago. Gabby went to the hospital after returning from a trip to St. Louis and Peoria, Ill., for an "old timers" baseball meeting.

He has been in a weakened condition since an operation in St. Louis last summer. Street, 68, has been a player, manager and radio commentator during his long career.

He has traveled from coast to coast. He has known practically every one in baseball—big or little—and he has a story about every one.

Most of these stories he has told at some time or another in recent years while announcing St. Louis Cardinals games over a mid-western network.

Gabby considers his association with pitcher Walter Johnson, "The Big Train," and the Cardinal pennant of 1930 as his two big high spots.

Besides these achievements, Gabby was the first man to catch a ball dropped from the top of the Washington monument.

He started his baseball career at Hopkinsville, Ky., in the Kitty league in 1902. In 1904 he was with Terre Haute, Ind., in the Central league.

The catcher then went to the majors—the Cincinnati Reds, Boston Braves, Washington Senators and New York Yankees.

By 1913 he was back in the minors with San Francisco, Chattanooga, Nashville, Joplin, Muskogee, Okla., Augusta, Ga., Columbia, S. C., and Knoxville, Tenn.

His stay in the majors actually was brief. Weak hitting was his downfall. His lifetime major league batting average was .208, his best being .238 with the Reds and Braves in 1905. Only once did he go over .300 and that was .308 with the Joplin club when he was 41 years old.

In 1930 he was named manager of the Cardinals and drove them to the pennant with a big push in September. On Labor day the Redbirds were in fourth place, but they were virtually unbeatable after that.

The club bowed to the Philadelphia Athletics in the 1930 world series, but after taking an easy pennant the next year, they downed the A's.

The Cards sagged to sixth place in 1932, failed to respond in 1933 and Street was dropped by owner Sam Breadon in mid-season in favor of Frankie Frisch.

The next two seasons Street managed San Francisco and in 1936 was with St. Paul. In 1937 he took a coaching job with the St. Louis Browns but left there after one year.

Cardinal's Chances For Top Third-Sacker Appear Very Slim

BOSTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' chances of obtaining Bob Elliott, the Boston Braves' hard-hitting third baseman, in a trade during the week-end baseball meeting in New York today appeared extremely slim.

General manager John Quinn of the Braves said that all player negotiations with several clubs, including the Cardinals, are considered closed.

"No team offered us a deal we felt was satisfactory," Quinn explained.

Elliott has been rumored as going to the Cardinals for pitcher George Munger, outfielder Chuck Diering and third baseman Eddie Kazak.

Flordonia Club In Contribution

The Flordonia Homemakers club met with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooper of Sutherland near Knob Noster, with ten members, five children and two visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Danford, present.

Mrs. Frank Judd, president, opened the meeting. Mrs. Will Trölinger led in singing the 1951 state club song, "God Bless Our Native Land" and hymn, "I Need Thee Every Hour." Mrs. Adam Judd read the first chapter of St. Mark followed by prayer. Five dollars was given to the March of Dimes and three dollars to the Salvation army. A book review of "Little Britches" was given by Mrs. Don Eversole.

The next meeting will be at the Flordonia school house with Mrs. George Phiffer as hostess, February 16.

Dynamos Defeat Braymer 68-56

The Missouri Pacific Dynamos journeyed to Concordia Wednesday where they played Braymer, Mo., in the Concordia tournament, beating them by a score of 68 to 56.

McGuire was high point man for the locals with 21 points, followed close by Gene Edwards with 17 and Buddy Thomas with 13 points.

The play of the game was in the last five seconds when Ted Zink threw a long pass to George Ray who wheeled in a one-handed shot just as the whistle blew.

Gremlins Eliminated From PCAA Tourney By Hughesville Five

The Sacred Heart Gremlins were eliminated from the consolation bracket of the PCAA northern tournament Wednesday afternoon as the Hughesville Wildcats again smothered the locals by a 52-27 score on the LaMonte court.

Bill Hodges led the Gremlins' attack as he dumped in 18 markers.

Claims She Was Sold

Shirley O'Brien, 11, told Juvenile Officer Irene Gardner in Los Angeles her parents sold her to a filling station operator for $5 and a tankful of gasoline. Cecil Glover, the serviceman, turned the child over to authorities when he became convinced the parents, Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien, migrant farm workers, would not return. The father, later, denied any intent to sell the child, declaring she had been turned over to the serviceman until he could secure work and properly care for her. (AP Wirephoto)

'Old Soldiers' at Home

According to legend, the island of Cheju off the coast of Korea was once inhabited entirely by women, men being permitted to land there only once a year and take away with them all boys who had reached the age of 13.

After the Korean island of Cheju was occupied by Mongol troops in 1272, it formed the base for two attacks on Japan, both of which were stopped by the "Kamikaze" or divine wind.

How to Grow Old Happily Taught by Foundation For 40-plus Living

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—America, famous for its production capacity, is now producing one commodity at a record rate — old people.

Because science has conquered so many diseases, people just aren't dying as young as they used to, creating a new national problem.

"Our society has to learn how to live with an aging population," says Janet Baird, executive director of the Foundation for Forty-Plus Living, "and we ourselves have to learn how to grow old happily."

Miss Baird is a tall, blue-eyed blonde still in her 30's. "I'm the only woman in town who lies occupy your mind, you'll be miserable.

"People with active minds," says Miss Baird, "are happy and useful, despite their years. Look at men like Bernard Baruch and Connie Mack."

Next, be sure to have a thorough physical check-up in your 40s, when most chronic diseases of old age begin. They can be detected and often cured. You'll go into old age with a healthy body, which helps make for happiness.

Finally, prepare for your financial security while you can. If possible, get some good annuities. But if you can't afford the outlay, you can still plan for independence.

She says be sure to have a hobby. Maybe you can capitalize on it. If you like fiddling with tools, you can probably set up a little fix-it shop, for example. Or, if that won't work, try to get a job you'll be able to handle when you're older.

Whatever it is, the time to plan is when you're young enough to do it. If you wait until necessity comes along, it may be too late.

Miss Baird has written "These Harvest Years," which she calls a "how-to-do" book for growing older.

She thinks we have to revise our thinking about old age. We should stop concentrating on a person's actual years; chronological age, she says, doesn't mean as much as how old a person feels.

That's the philosophy of the Foundation, which is serving as a clearing house for information about old age to show the general public and industry how to deal with the aged.

Miss Baird's thoughts on old people boil down to this: "We train children to be happy adults; it's time we started training adults to be happy old people."

JANET BAIRD: She lies about her age — upwards.

about her age — upwards," she says, with a laugh.

The Foundation is trying to do the necessary education job. It picked 40 as a turning point, because it feels when you're 40 it's time to begin thinking about what you'll do at 65.

There's a lot more to it than buying a good rocking chair. Actually, says Miss Baird, it's a three-fold problem: interests, physical condition, and security.

Interests are important, because if you retire without anything to

Holstein Group To Meet Feb. 8

The annual meeting of the Central District Holstein Breeders Association will be held Thursday, February 8, at the county extension agent's office.

The meeting will start at 10:00 in the morning and will close at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

A large crowd of Holstein owners and interested persons are expected to attend to hear J. E.

BIGGEST OF THE ROSARIES—Members of the young people's club of the Holy Family Church, Cincinnati, O., pray with what they believe is the world's largest portable rosary. The beads of hard wood were bought from a man who had purchased 30,000 wooden balls from government surplus stocks, and was unable to find a use for them. The church priest, Rev. Alfred Powers, conceived the idea of the giant rosary.

Crosby of the University of Missouri discuss the program for the year and outline promotional ideas for the breed.

A picture on Holsteins will be shown during the meeting.

Officers of the association are: Paul Selken, Smithton, president; Dr. C. O. Jones, Blackburn, vice-president, and Reno Heimsoth, Cole Camp, secretary-treasurer.

The association includes Benton, Morgan, Cooper, Boone, Howard, Saline, Moniteau, Pettis, Hickory, Henry, Johnson, Fayette, Carroll, Chariton and Camden counties and all Holstein owners may attend.

Organize Club at Glover School

A group of ladies met with the home agent, Lillian Walkins at Glover school on January 25 at 2 o'clock to discuss arranging a home extension club.

A club was organized with the following officers elected: President, Mrs. Lloyd Arnett; vice-president, Mrs. Carl Arnett; song and game leader, Mrs. Russell Haight; secretary, treasurer and reporter, Mrs. Buell Hoard. The name of "Camp Branch Homemakers" was given for the club and "Help Your Neighbor" as the club motto.

Plans for the year will be discussed at the February meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Arnett.

Routed Elephant Creates Menace

KUALA LUMPUR—(P)—Elephants, driven from their jungles by security patrols and air bombings, are menacing rubber estates and cultivated lands, says the Federation Game department. "Little has been possible in the prevention of damage to crops although in some cases the department has been able to work in these areas accompanied by police and in others by using special constables stationed in a particular estate," the department's report said.

French Shift Diplomat

SINGAPORE—(P)—Andre Guibaut, French consul-general in Singapore, is to get a new, important diplomatic post in March. He is expected to become political advisor to the French High Commissioner in Saigon, French Indo-China. Guibaut left Singapore in December for a three-month leave in France before proceeding to his new post. Guibaut formerly was consul-general in Shanghai. An explorer and geographer, he is the author of "Tibetan Adventure."

...And You'll See That Your Savings On A&P's Storewide Everyday Low Prices Are Far Greater Than On Just

A Few "Week-End Specials"

There are more than 300 shopping days in the year, but an average of only 104 Fridays and Saturdays. So by offering low prices every day, instead of just on week-ends, A&P triples your chances to save money. What's more, by offering these everyday low prices on hundreds of items throughout the store, instead of on just a few "specials" here and there, A&P multiplies your chances to save money, many times. It's easy to see that this results in much bigger savings on your total food bill. Easy to see how much bigger, too. Simply test-shop A&P by getting all your food and household needs here for a week. Then compare your total bill with what you normally spend. The difference in size will be a pleasant surprise.

A&P's PRICE POLICY

- Storewide low prices on hundreds of items every day... instead of just a few "one-day" or "week-end" specials.
- All advertised prices (including those items not subject to price ceilings) are guaranteed for one week even though market prices go up. We believe this policy helps our customers save more money.
- With the correct price marked on every item, plus an itemized cash register slip... you know what you save at A&P.

Excess Waste Removed Before Weighing!

You don't pay chuck roast prices for coarse, bony neck cuts at A&P. They're sold as stew meat at a lower price per pound. "Super-Right" chuck roasts are genuine English, Arm or Blade cuts... without excess waste. 69c

Spareribs Are Budget Dish

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA Staff Writer

You'll enjoy this budget meat dish. Roast potatoes along with it. They will take on the mingled flavors of the sparerib sauce.

Oven-Barbecued Spareribs
(4-5 servings)

Three pounds spareribs, 1 cup thinly sliced onions, ¾ cup vinegar, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Lay half of the spareribs in a baking pan; cover with sliced onions; put remaining spareribs on top. Combine all other ingredients and pour this sauce over the spareribs. Bake, uncovered, in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 2 hours.

Spiced Crumb Pudding
(6-8 servings)

One cup soft bread crumbs (about 2 slices bread), 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk, 3 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 2 tablespoons molasses, ½ cup sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ½ cup raisins.

Soften crumbs in buttermilk for one-half hour. Cream butter or margarine, add brown sugar gradually, then blend in molasses and crumb mixture. Sift together the flour, salt, soda, cinnamon and cloves and stir into the creamed mixture. Stir in raisins. Pour into a well-greased shallow 8-inch baking dish (1-quart capacity). Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Serve hot with your favorite pudding sauce.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Baked apples, cornflakes, soft-cooked eggs, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed frozen shrimp on toast, steamed rice, canned peas, enriched soft rolls, butter or fortified margarine, sliced oranges and bananas, tea, milk.

DINNER: Oven barbecued spareribs, pan roasted potatoes, buttered broccoli, rye bread, butter or fortified margarine, raw carrot sticks and celery, spice crumb pudding with sauce, coffee, milk.

Kids Like Marshmallow Mice

WHITE MICE, of marshmallow with tails of twine and ears of pink paper, thrill the younger set.

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA Staff Writer

When I was a kid, my mother used to make a marshmallow mice cake for my sister, brother and me when we'd been particularly good — which wasn't often.

Today my wife makes it for our young son when he is particularly good. But she doesn't have to make it very often either. However, your children may be better behaved, so here's the way to make the marshmallow mice.

Marshmallow Mice

(Makes 8)

Take 8 marshmallows. With hands, mold each into a mouse shape. With heavy white thread and a needle, make whiskers for each mouse. Cut white paper into small pieces, suitable for mouse ears. Color one side of each ear pink. Cut heavy twine in short lengths for tails. Attach ears and tails to marshmallow mice.

Use a ready-mix cake recipe and cover with chocolate marshmallow frosting.

Chocolate Marshmallow Frosting

(For 8-inch layer cake)
Two tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 1/2 cup milk, 6 tablespoons brown sugar, one 1-ounce square unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 16 marshmallows (or 1/4 pound), 2 cups confectioner's sugar.

In a saucepan, mix butter or margarine, milk, brown sugar, chocolate and salt; bring to boil, stirring constantly. Turn heat to simmer. Add marshmallows to mixture. Stir constantly until chocolate and marshmallows are dissolved and mixture is smooth.

Remove from heat; gradually add enough confectioner's sugar to make frosting of spreading consistency.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, oatmeal, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

CHILDREN'S LUNCHEON PARTY: Tomato juice, broiled hamburger patties, rolls, apple sauce, marshmallow mice cake, tea, hot chocolate with marshmallows.

DINNER: Boiled tongue, to-pepper, flour, 3 tablespoons cooking fat, 1/2 cup sliced onion, 2 teaspoons parsley, 3 cups water, 8 carrots, cut in half.

To give the pot roast richness and flavor, "lard" it by inserting strips of salt pork with a larding needle. If you do not have this gadget, cut slits in the roast and lay in strips of pork. Season meat, dredge with flour and brown in fat. Add onion, parsley and water. Cover and simmer 2 hours, until meat is tender. Add carrots and cook one half hour longer. Make dumplings according to your favorite recipe and drop from a spoon into the broth. Cook for 15 minutes in a tightly covered pan without lifting the cover. Serve the meat surrounded by the dumplings. Thicken the gravy slightly.

Apple Crisp

(Serves 6)

Eight medium apples, 1/2 cup water, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 3/4 cup sugar, 1/2 cup flour, 6 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine. Pare, core and slice the apples thin. Fill a greased 1 1/2-quart casserole with the sliced apples, water and cinnamon.

Blend the rest of the ingredients until crumbly in consistency. Spread this mixture over the top of the apples and bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) one hour and fifteen minutes or until apples are tender.

The famous "horseshoe" part of Niagara Falls is being bent out of shape by erosion. Comparison of a new map with one issued 50 years ago shows that the curve of the horseshoe has moved 300 feet up the Niagara river and warped over to the right.

Cleaning Now Made Easier

Happy Hour Club Given Helpful Talk By Miss McGraw

"Making Cleaning Tasks Easier" was the subject of a talk given before the Bethel Happy Hour club of Lincoln, by Miss Elizabeth McGraw, home agent, of Warsaw, Thursday afternoon.

In her talk Miss McGraw pointed out that the old custom of cleaning house twice each year, spring and fall, is rapidly disappearing, as American homemakers are forming new habits of house cleaning, based on a year around, month by month, schedule.

The size of the home, climatic conditions and health of the homemaker plays a very important part in making up the schedule, she said, and pointed out that homemakers should begin, by striving to keep dirt from entering the home. Well swept, hard surfaced walks about the home and a small room or porch with rugs or scrapers for wiping shoes, and a place for leaving overshoes, wraps and hats with some brackets and hangers low enough for the children of the family to reach will encourage neatness, and a place where working men may wash up before entering the house will eliminate those lavatory rings and bath room floors being splashed with dirty water.

Mops, brooms, window washers, waxers, dust pans, etc., with long handles will save much of the homemaker's energy and will also hasten the work being done, she said.

A new and excellent idea in dusting she pointed out is to use two dustless dust cloths, made by dipping pieces of old material, knit shirts are good, she said, in a solution of one tablespoon furniture polish and one quart warm water, dry well before using. By wearing gloves and using one of the cloths in each hand the work can be done rapidly and well and the gloves will prevent chapped, dirty hands and broken nails.

Cleaning every day silver is done quickly and most satisfactorily by boiling them in a solution of one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda and one quart water, soft water preferred, until free of tarnish and stains. Wash in soapy water, rinse well and dry. Results, excellent, as proven by actual demonstration before the club.

The health and happiness of the homemaker is greatly improved when house cleaning tasks are well planned, correct posture is practiced and rest period is followed each day she said.

Miss McGraw was presented by the program chairman, Mrs. H. B. Lynch.

Roll call was with favorite recipes which included cakes, cookies, stew, Denver biscuits and fluffy chocolate roll, made as jelly roll.

The club collect and the author were studied. The collect is a prayer and was written by Mary Stewart, a native of Ohio and was first published in 1904.

The regular business meeting was held after which refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. H. B. Lynch, assisted by Mrs. Lyle Bryan.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. G. Carney, February 22 with Mrs. George Suhl and Mrs. Don Hedrick as leaders.

Reunion

Mrs. Geraldine Richey of Lawton, Okla., has a joyful reunion at Columbia, S. C., with her 15-month-old son, Thomas Wayne. The child had been held at Columbia for safekeeping since FBI agents arrested 18-year-old Bobbie Jean Rhody last week. She is accused of traveling around the country with the boy since last June. Sheriff C. V. Phillips of Comanche County, Okla., said a kidnapping charge probably would be prosecuted against Miss Rhody in Oklahoma. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Sat Placidly in Zero Cold Awaiting Return of Girls

It was one of those recent bitter cold nights and two Sedalia girls found themselves in a predicament. They had planned a dinner party and it was getting close to time for the guests to arrive but they had little or no heat in the house. It was so cold and the gas pressure was low at the home and there wasn't a thing they could do about warming up the house.

They didn't want to have a party in a cold house so they called on a friend who lived about three blocks away and asked if they might borrow her home for the evening. She agreed and the two girls began to hustle around and get the food together to take to the friend's house. As they started to leave their home they remembered that the other girl wouldn't have enough chairs for all the guests so they decided to take a couple of folding chairs with them. Out the door they went, loaded down with food and trying to lug a chair along, too.

About half way there, or maybe they didn't get quite that far, they gave up. They knew they would never make it—so they talked it over and settled on one girl staying with the chairs and part of the food while the others went on to the place where the party was to be held to get their friend to come back and help carry the load.

Sat Calmly In Cold

As the two girls who waited with the chairs and part of the food stood there she thought if a little silly to stand and hold chairs when she might as well be sitting down—she knew she couldn't be any colder sitting down than she was already. So she just sat down and continued waiting.

It was several minutes later when the other two girls returned and the picture they saw sent them into roars of laughter for there in a yard, just as if it was a warm summer night, sat their friend. They couldn't help wondering what passersby might have thought when they saw somebody nonchalantly sitting out in a yard in near zero weather.

Make Adirondack Pie

ADIRONDACK PIE combines out-sized pancakes with maple sugar and whipped cream.

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA Staff Writer

Next Tuesday will be Mardi Gras, the day before Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent. It's a day for gaiety and feasting. There's an old English custom that the day before Lent is pancake day. Now the custom is growing in the United States. How does this sound to you, particularly on a cold day after a brisk walk or skating on the pond? Five big pancakes in a stack—melted butter and shaved maple sugar over each and whipped cream over all.

That's Adirondack pie as served at many famous ski resorts in the Adirondack mountains. It is just as easily duplicated at home for a luncheon or light supper treat. The pancakes are baked larger than average and then as each pancake stacks atop the next one, a generous portion of butter and maple sugar is added. The whipped cream on top gives the crowning touch.

On Pancake day or just any day of the year, the family will squeal with delight over Adirondack pie. Here are the directions much the same as those used by the resort chefs.

Adirondack Pie

(Makes 10 large pancakes)
Pancakes: Two cups ready-mix for pancakes, 2 cups milk.
Filling and Topping: Melted butter, shaved maple sugar, whipped cream.

Add milk to unsifted ready-mix all at once and stir lightly. Somewhat lumpy batter makes light, fluffy pancakes. Pour 1/3 cup of batter for each pancake onto a hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. Stack 5 pancakes, placing melted butter and shaved maple sugar (or brown sugar) between each. Top with whipped cream; sprinkle with shaved maple sugar. Cut in wedges.

MENU
BREAKFAST: Orange juice, cooked whole grain cereal, split and toasted muffins, butter or fortified margarine, jam, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Adirondack pie, tea, milk.
DINNER: Tomato juice, fried fish fillets, tartare sauce, parsley potato balls, stewed tomatoes and onions, rye bread, butter or fortified margarine, apple brown Betty, cream, coffee, milk.

Face of Lee In Dok Will Linger Long

(By William C. Barnard)
(For Hal Boyle)

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA—The face of Lee In Dok will haunt Americans who have known him for years after this war is done.

There is nothing unusual about Lee In Dok's face. It is broad and oriental, with high cheek bones and dark slanting eyes. It is just that his face sometimes reflects the great personal tragedy that war has brought to Lee In Dok.

A short, husky South Korean of 28, he is the houseboy of three soldiers who treat him well. He is very lucky indeed to be in a room of this old schoolhouse which the army has taken over.

Lee In Dok even has a cot and a sleeping bag and he is asleep now. His clothing hangs carefully from nails he drove in the wall. His personal effects are stored neatly under the cot. Outside, sentries with rifles are in cold foxholes, guarding his sleep. A casual visitor might walk in and say: "I'll bet that guy never had it so good."

Lee In Dok had it better than this. A well educated and intelligent man, before the Communists crossed the 38th parallel last June, he was a prosperous sugar broker in Taejon. He lived in a big house, a fine house by Korean standards. With him lived his wife and two little children, his father and mother.

Serves the Soldiers

How, in the push and confusion of war, Lee In Dok became separated from his family is not known to him or even by the three soldiers he serves so faithfully. Capt. Bernard Bailey of Waterloo, Ia., Lt. Perry Davis of Salt Lake City, and Master Sgt. Crawford K. Coyner of Parkland, Wash., refrain from bringing up the subject.

In August, Bailey and Coyner found Lee In Dok working as a common laborer inside the allied Pusan-Taegu perimeter. He was reduced to canvas shoes, worn cotton pants and shirt and a rice straw hat. He looked like a peasant. They hired him and soon found he was not a peasant at all but a man of education and rare intelligence—greatly stricken by the loss of his family.

Lee In Dok was frantically eager when the allies broke out of their perimeter in September and headed northward. He trembled with expectation. Bailey and Coyner drove him into Taejon and to the site of his former home.

The home was wrecked. A neighbor came up and whispered a few words to the horrified Lee In Dok. His face tight with gloom, Lee In Dok walked into the ashes of the house and stood a silent moment.

"Then," Coyner says, "he came back to our jeep and said just two words, 'we go.'"

War is such a big sized tragedy that it dwarfs the personal tragedies, the tens of thousands of personal tragedies.

But sometimes personal tragedies are the hardest to forget. And the sudden pitiful misery in the face of Lee In Dok as he crawled into his sleeping bag an hour ago was a haunting thing, to be long-remembered.

Breaks Record In New York to London Hop

Capt. Charles Blair Does It In Mustang Plane

LONDON, Feb. 1—(P)—Airline Capt. Charles Blair, in a Mustang fighter plane, Wednesday smashed all records for a flight from New York to London.

Blair, a 41-year-old Pan-American Airways pilot, streaked out of the darkness over London airport just seven hours and 48 minutes after his dawn takeoff on the other side of the Atlantic. His average speed for the non-stop solo of some 3,500 miles was about 450 miles per hour.

His "flying gas tank"—named Excelsior the Third—left New York's Idlewild airport at 4:50 a. m. EST. (9:50 a. m. British time) and was clocked in here at 5:38 p. m. (12:38 p. m. EST).

Blair flew much of the way at an altitude of over 25,000 feet. He was pushed along by a tremendous tail wind which at times blew more than 130 miles an hour.

The old London-New York record of eight hours, 55 minutes was set by a Pan-American stratoscruiser, carrying 24 passengers, on Nov. 22, 1949.

Its pilot was Capt. Charles Titus of Great Neck, Long Island.

Blair's single-engine Mustang is modified to hold 865 gallons of high test gasoline inside the wings tanks.

His flight had a double purpose—to set a new speed record and to study the effect of the high velocity winds of the lower stratosphere on Trans-Atlantic Airliner.

Surveys in U. S. city areas show that 52 per cent of all auto trips are made for purposes of making a living, 13 per cent for shopping, 16 per cent for recreation and 19 per cent for miscellaneous purposes like going to the doctor or dentist or taking children to school.
